

LEADERSHIP FOR A FUTURE

Now accepting applications for the Class of 2018!

“My experience has been beyond my expectations. Leadership for a Future not only illustrates the art of the possible but also the tools to make it happen. The technical, tactical, and intellectual support may be valuable; it is the personal relationships that are priceless. We live in a world where the lives of working people are always under threat. These classes teach you to see past the threat and to our unified struggle. Leadership for a Future in a word means solidarity.”

– Michael Araujo, Executive Director, RI Jobs with Justice
LFAF Class of 2013

Who: Community, labor, and religious leaders who are committed to social justice and have a desire to learn new, and reinforce already existing, leadership skills

What: A leadership development institute for current and emerging leaders that fosters diverse connections and relationships while providing participants with the skills necessary to “become the change they wish to see” in Rhode Island

When: One overnight retreat in late February, and ten Monday evening sessions running from 4:30 PM to 8:30 PM (dinner included). Sessions begin in late February and end in late May

Where: Sessions held at the Institute for Labor Studies and Research - 1540 Pontiac Ave., Suite A, Cranston, RI 02920

Questions: Contact Desiree Leclair at dleclair@riilsr.org or 401-463-9900 or visit www.riilsr.org

